Who is George Edgecomb?

If you have ever been to Downtown Tampa, you have seen the George Edgecomb Courthouse at 800 E Twiggs Street. Dedicated in 2004, this 332,000 square foot building was the first to be named after an African- American.

George Edgecomb was the first African American county court judge in Hillsborough County, named in 1973. Before becoming a judge, he worked as a lawyer, then Assistant State Attorney and was a faithful member of the Mt Sinai AME Church, Tampa Urban League and many others. His wife, Doretha, has been an educator for 52 years, many within Hillsborough County schools. Their daughter Allison also works for the Hillsborough County School Board.

George was in his early 30's when he was diagnosed with leukemia. However, there were no local options for treatment at the time and unfortunately, he passed away in 1976; just 3 years after being appointed county court judge. His very good friend Mr. H. Lee Moffitt created the Moffitt Cancer Center in 1986 to establish a premier cancer center in Florida.

In addition, the George Edgecomb Society was created in 2017, to help eliminate cancer health disparities among the African American community. When it comes to certain types of cancer, African Americans are disproportionately affected. Since its inception, the society has raised over $665,000 in pledges and donations toward the cause. This community continues to face higher cancer rates and cancer deaths. When compared to other communities, these higher rates are called cancer health disparities.

Examples of cancer health disparities being faced in the Black/African American community include: highest overall rates of (and deaths from) cancer, shortest survival rates, higher rates of aggressive forms of breast cancer, higher rates and deaths from prostate cancer, and higher rates of cervical cancer.

Working together, a passionate group of local community leaders who help inspire continuous support for the cause--

- ADVOCATE to prevent and cure cancer, as well as eliminate cancer health disparities
- EDUCATE members on new treatment protocols and research efforts
- AWARD financial support for the research and clinical efforts of scientists focused on cancer health disparities
- PROMOTE Moffitt's physicians and researchers and their outstanding care and innovative research

We look forward to telling you more about this critical mission as our guest at the HORUS Construction's Annual Hook & Slice Tournament!

STAGGERING STATISTICS

For more than four decades, African Americans have had a higher overall cancer death rate than all other racial and ethnic groups in the United States

An estimated 202,260 African Americans were diagnosed with cancer and 75,030 died from the disease in 2019 alone

African American men and women have a 111% and 39% higher risk of dying from prostate cancer and breast cancer, respectively, compared with their white counterparts.

African American men have prostate cancer incidence and death rates that are more than 1.5 times and more than 2 times those for men of any other race or ethnicity, respectively

Breast cancer is the most commonly diagnosed cancer among African American women, with 33,840 new cases estimated to have been diagnosed in 2019 alone.

Sponsorship Opportunities

HORUS Construction Services is pleased to invite you to partner with us in our mission to Advocate, Educate, Award, and Promote. We invite you to become a sponsor at our annual Hook & Slice Charity Golf Tournament on March 6, 2022 at the Tampa Palms Golf & Country Club. As a sponsor, you will be recognized throughout the year in different ways and those details are enclosed for the different sponsorship levels.

Our annual Hook & Slice Charity Golf Tournament is a time for our supporters and community members to come together to raise the funds needed to ensure equitable health outcomes and the elimination of cancer health disparities among Blacks/African Americans. With a limit of 40 players, our guests will enjoy brunch, an opportunity to Pick Your Pro to join your team, and a Winner Takes All prize of $5,000. 100% of the net proceeds raised will be used to fund research to address cancer health disparities.

To become a sponsor or to learn more, please contact Angela Williams at angela.williams@horus-cs.com or 813-519-2574. Thank you!
